

Course 3 Dreams and Aspirations

Not every idea has to be a money-making venture, it may just be something you want to achieve for your own satisfaction and even if it is an idea you want to take to the market place, we know from our own experience, there's a great deal of thinking, talking, researching, questioning and uncertainty that needs to go on before you decide you're confident enough to go public with your ideas.

If you know what your dream is or you're aware that your dream may still be hiding from your consciousness then this is definitely the place for you to start talking about it.
